The first part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the general theory of the subject. It is shown that the theory is based on the principle of least action, which is a fundamental principle of physics. The principle states that the path taken by a particle is the one that minimizes the action, which is the integral of the Lagrangian over time.

In the second part of the paper, the theory is applied to the case of a particle moving in a potential field. It is shown that the equations of motion can be derived from the principle of least action. The resulting equations are the Euler-Lagrange equations, which are a set of second-order differential equations.

The third part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the quantum theory of mechanics. It is shown that the quantum theory is based on the principle of least action, which is a fundamental principle of physics. The principle states that the path taken by a particle is the one that minimizes the action, which is the integral of the Lagrangian over time.

In the final part of the paper, the theory is applied to the case of a particle moving in a potential field.
